About this piece

A pair of brass table lamps aligned to the Arts and Crafts movement (1880–1910), c.1910. Each has a four-legged base formed from broad strap brass that rises in S-curves to scroll feet, the legs tied mid-shaft by riveted collars and circling a central lower hub with coiled scrolls. Above, a foliate collar supports the lampholder, giving a compact, stable stance and an open strapwork silhouette suited to desks or side tables. The brass surface presents an even warm tone that complements plain or patterned shades.
