About this piece

An Arts and Crafts oak reading reclining armchair of generous proportions by Robert Thompson Mouseman. The bookstand will insert in the left or righthand side of the arm and connects at the base of the chair. Circa 1920's. Mouseman regularly started signing his furniture with a mouse after 1923 but when I spoke to the Thompson family they said that he did sign his mouse on some reclining armchairs and reading chairs before 1923 and after looking at this one carefully I feel it may well be an earlier chair.
