About this piece

This plant pot in copper sits within the Arts and Crafts (1880–1910) tradition, c.1905, English. The body is softly swollen with a narrow cordon at the shoulder and a flared rim. Around the belly runs a band of stylised hearts struck in low relief, giving a simple repeating rhythm that reads clearly when placed on a sill or shelf. At a little over four inches high, it makes a good cover for a small nursery pot, the warm oxide surface pairing well with green foliage.

Further images available on request. The piece is currently held in storage at one of our showrooms.
