

Arts & Crafts Hand-forged Iron & Copper Fireplace In the style of Baillie Scott

Ref: PV004533

£1,800

|                 |                                                                    |
|-----------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------|
| MAKER           | Mackay Hugh Baillie Scott                                          |
| DESIGNER        | Mackay Hugh Baillie Scott                                          |
| IN THE STYLE OF | Mackay Hugh Baillie Scott                                          |
| PERIOD          | Arts & Crafts Movement , 1890-1899                                 |
| YEAR            | 1899                                                               |
| STYLE           | Arts and Crafts                                                    |
| ORIGIN          | United Kingdom                                                     |
| MATERIALS       | Copper, Iron                                                       |
| DIMENSIONS      | H: 42 in (106.68 cm)   W: 36.5 in (92.71 cm)   D: 17 in (43.18 cm) |
| CONDITION       | Good                                                               |

About this piece

An Arts and Crafts hand forged iron and copper fireplace in the style of Baillie Scott

With stylised floral details to the copper hood and integral andirons. Perfect for an inglenook fireplace, any lingering smoke is helped up the chimney via the copper hood. The hood has some slight dents here and there as seen in the images.

Measures:

- Height: 42"
- Depth: 17"
- Width from the edges of the decorative scrolls: 36 1/2"