

Pair of Aesthetic Movement Cast Iron Fireplaces, Attributed to T Jeckyll

SOLD

---

|                  |                    |
|------------------|--------------------|
| DESIGNER  | Thomas Jeckyll     |
| PERIOD    | Aesthetic Movement |
| YEAR      | 1875               |
| MATERIALS | Iron               |

---

About this piece

A pair of aesthetic movement cast iron fireplaces with a peacock sat on a tray above a wind God attributed to Thomas Jeckyll and probably made by Barnard Bishop and Barnard.