About this piece

Thomas Edward Collcutt (1840-1924) for Collinson and Lock. A rosewood part drawing room suite, circa 1880, comprising: four side chairs, a high-back nursing chair and a low-back nursing chair, with ring-turned galleries, uprights and supports, original Paisley pattern silk brocade upholstery identical to those illustrated in the 1871 catalogue drawings, 102cm high and smaller, (6) See Gere, Charlotte and Whiteway, Michael 'Nineteenth-Century Design' London 1993, p. 283. Collcutt designed nearly all of the furniture in the Collinson and Lock catalogue of 1871 and John Moyr Smith drew all the illustrations.
